Thespian circles were deeply moved, particularly in consequence of the significant name given to the new drama, viz., " Focchow Road." As throughout the empire Shanghai is regarded as a " sink of iniquity," so in Shaughai the Foochow Road is as the foul place of this Model Settlement, consequently it was believed that life in opium dens, in gambling bells, and t vprian chambers would be illustrated in a lively namer. This expectation filled the house with prurient spectators, who, alas! were doomed to disappointment. "Foochow Road" proved to be an old and family play, founded on neidents in the "History of the Three Kingdoms "-third century A.D. Instead therefore executions, strategy, and the ordinary scenes to Shaughai audience would have shown resent ment, but our native fellow-residents regarded the hoar with stold unconcern. Perhaps the police present helped to represe abullition of feeling, which was further helped by the popularity of the leading actors, such as Sai Noh-hen, Hsia Yuen-kuia, and San Mo-h z. whose pay averages $5 per night; besides. Wong Kuarfen, the great songster's name, appeared on the olay bill. The attractiveness of this vocalist may be inferred by the bigh salary that is paid him, not less than $13 per night. "SANITARY" SUPERINTENDENT'S

ANNUAL REPORT. The following report was submitted at th meeting of the Sanitary Board yesterday :-Gentlemen.-I have the honour to submit this, the third annual report, year 1991, concerning the work done by the Sanitary Department. DRAINAGE WORKS. In addition to the work carried out by property owners of their own motion a considerable number of houses which were found on inspection to be in an insanitary condition have been re-drained at the request of the Board. It has not unfrequently happened during the year that comparatively new pipe-drains have become choked chiefly through their misuse. The Inspectors continue to assist householder to clear such choked drains, and in doing so they always take care to explain that they do it to assist and instruct the householders and that it is no part of their regular duties to do such work. I am inclined to think there is still an impression among certain house. holders that every house that has been drained. according to plans which have been passed by the Board's Surveyor is drained in the most approved manner whereas the plans are simply passed as being in accordance with the drainage bye-laws. No doubt a considerable number of these plans could be much improved in detail and still be in accordance with the bye-laws. This is a point in connection with house-drainage | much. which it is vary distrable should be clearly and distinctly understood by all who are in any way interested in the matter. MARKETS AND SLAUGHTER-HOUSES. The remarks in de in my reports of 1889 and 1890 under this head are for all practical purposes applicable to the past year. There was no case of communicable cattle disease of a serious character rep reed during the year and only a very few cases of death from other causes are (nowé to have taken place. It will be observed that the number of death registered during 1891 is very considerably more than in 1889 and (80) and that an increase appears under all the group headings except "flireat affections" and "fevors."

The death rates for the year have been calculated from the figures obtained by the census taken in May. The estimated monthly increase to the population is based on the average aumual increase shown in the Registrar General's last consus ron at as having taken place between the years 1857 and 1891.

The number of deaths registered as occurring from infantile convulsive diseases and marasmus s more than a fourth of the total deaths registered during the year. The majority of the deaths registered a being caused by these diseases occurred during the first month of life and nearly all daring the first year. This relatively large infanti's mortality indicates insanitary conditions in the surroundings, nursing, or treatment of the infants in some form? The remarks made in last year's report having reference to the registration of the actual cause of death are still applicable inasmuch as a improvement, so far as the Chinese community. is concerned; has taken place in this branch of death registration.

In addition to the drily routine work much ime was taken up in acquiring the information which it was deemed necessary to obtain when the question of enforcing the common lodging house by e-laws was under consideration, and the amount of work done by the Inspectors in obtaining this information is shown in the tabular statements aid before the Board on the 6th povember. This work greatly interfered with the houseof each house in the colony which I mentioned thirty-six of more or less pronounced nuisances were dealt with during the year. This number does not include the many petty nuisances which | meeting the Consulting Committee had one the Inspectors have daily to speak to householders Fifty-five cases of infections disease have been

BABY FARMING IN ENGLAND. LONDON, 7th March. Baby farming still remains practically unchecked by law. It is only when more than one hild is taken at a time that a farmer's astablishment has to be registered. The consequience is that only one child at a time is taken in to be foully murdered. Revolting facts have owns under the observation of the society for the prevention of cruelty to children. One girl. at five years of age, was almost an imbecile from the terrors she had experienced. The rare occasions when she did speak were of the times she had been tied up across the rails of a helstead and beaten numercifully by two human flends, so that her back was a mass of welts and blood. One of the sisters at the home, where at length the persecuted child found rafuge, showed her a picture of the cruciform more than a year fter her admission, whereupon the child shrank back almost in terror. "Ou." she said. "I was tied that way, once." In another case seven childrensigare rescued, butsfour of them too late. It was heartrending to see the apparent inshility of these children, Bor 4 and 5 years old, to understand what it meant to be kissed. One little girl named Maud had been looked up and tied to a bed-post behind a cedar door, whose her suppressed whimpering and wailing made the neighbours think a dog was kept there. When she was resoued from the clutches of the woman to whose "motherly care" she had been entrusted, she could neither walk nor talk, and though 5 years

ild, was just like a tiny baby. THE ENGLISH TERMINUS FOR THE NEW CANADIAN LINE.

LONDON, 3rd March. There is an enger competition among the various ports of South England to secure the landing of the Canadian mail steamers; nearly all of them have sent deputations to present their claims to Sir Charles Tupper, the Canadian High Commissioner . To-day Weymouth and Portland jointly pressed their advantages upon the Commissioner. There is no disputing the capacity of Portland barbone, as all the fleets of the world could anchor we hin it. The spokesman of the delegation declared that the prospects of victing the great breakwater would of itself attract passengers to a route via Portland, 1t was also argued that railroad communication from Portland was all that could be desired. Sir Charles Tupper responded diplomatically to the enthusiastic delegation, and made it clear that the determining condition with the Canadian Government would be which of the various ports afforded the best route for shortening the time of delivery of the American mails in London. PIENDISH SCHEME. Los Don, 5th March.

A despatch from San Sebastian, Spain, states that a lady presented to one of the churches there a huge candle weighing 60 pounds, to be burned during Lent. It was explained that the candle was intended to furnish light throughout the exact Lenten period. The gift was suitably acknowledged in the presence of an immense congregation, and the sacristan proceeded to light the candle, but there seemed to be some fault in its construction, as the wick failed to remain alight. After three futile attempts had been made the officiating priest, becoming suspicious that something was wrong, ordered that the candle be removed and exemined. This being done the startling discovery was made that the interior of the candle was filled with powerful explosives. Had the sacristan succeeded in making it burn, a terrible explosion must have resulted with cousequences awful to contemplate in view of the crowded condition of the church. The lady who donated the candle had disappeared before the deadly character of the gift was discovered. It is conjectured that she was an agent of the anarchists, their object being to destroy the building.
